

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Anthony R. Walker

took his first degree in Indian History and Religion at Osmania University, Hyderabad where he was a Commonwealth Universities scholar. He later spent a year among the Toda of South India doing research. In 1965 he obtained a B. Litt. at Oxford and since 1966 has been research officer at the Tribal Research Centre, Chiangmai, conducting anthropological fieldwork among the Red La Hu people.

John H. Bryant

M.D. Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons 1953; internship, New York City 1953-56. Fellow in Biochemistry 1956-59, Bethesda; professorial staff, University of Vermont College of Medicine 1960-65. Rockefeller Foundation 1965 to present; since 1966 Visiting Professor of Medicine, Ramathibodi Hospital, Bangkok. Publications include Health Care and the Developing World: Beyond One Reach? (Cornell, 1969).

William J. Gedney

b. 1915; received his doctorate in Indic and Far Eastern Languages and Literature at Yale in 1947 and thereafter spent six years in Thailand studying Thai language and literature. He is presently Professor of Linguistics at the University of Michigan. In 1964-5 and 1968-9 he was on leave of absence doing fieldwork in South-east Asia on comparative Tai linguistics. Publications include Indic loanwords in spoken Thai and English for Speakers of Thai.

Alexander B. Griswold

b. 1907, Baltimore; studied at Princeton University; President, Breezewood Foundation, partner of Alex Brown and Sons, Bankers, Baltimore, and Visiting Professor, Cornell University. Publications include Dated Buddha Images of Northern Siam (1957), King Mongkut of Siam (1961), Burma in 'Art of the World' Burma-Korea-Tibet (1964) Towards a History of Sukhodaya Art (1968).

Prasert na Nagara

b. 1919 Prae; Ph.D. Cornell University in Statistics; Vice-Rector, Kasetsart University. Publications include Handbook for Niras Hari-bhunjaya A.D. 1517, The Linguistics of Northern Thai Dialect, Sukhothai History from Inscriptions, Notes on Sukhothai Inscriptions.

Prasidh Silapabanleng

b. 1912 Bangkok; studied Siamese music under his father Luang Pradit Phairoh; studied Western music, particularly composition, for five years in Japan; returned to Bangkok in 1939; worked in the Fine Arts Department as assistant to Phra Chen Duriyanger. During the war, he was commanded by Pibul Songkram to act as liaison officer since he spoke Japanese. Resigned from government service at the end of the war to establish the Pakhavali Institute, a school of Siamese dance and music.

Richard B. Noss

Ph.D. in Linguistics, Yale, 1954; Scientific Linguist, Foreign Service Institute, Washington D.C. 1955-59; Regional Language Supervisor for the State Department in South-East Asia, Phnom-Penh 1959-61; subsequently head of the East Asian Languages Department, Foreign Service Institute and presently Ford Foundation English Language Project Specialist, Bangkok. Publications include Thai Reference Grammar, FSI Basic Cambodian Course, and the UNESCO Report Language Policy and Higher Education in South East Asia.

P.J.S. Young

read Philosophy at Cambridge and has been resident in Siam six years, working with Jardine Waugh Ltd. He is doing research work on 17th century Siam,

Sirsakra Vallibhotama

Lecturer in Thai history in the Faculty of Archaeology, Silapakorn University, Bangkok; has recently completed a study of the administrative system of early Ayuthia and the geographical factors of cities and towns in the Chao Phya delta before the 14th c. A.D.; currently completing his M.A. thesis on anthropological field work in a Lao Puan village at Dong Sri Mahabohdi, Prachinburi for the University of Western Australia.

Bikkhu Kantipalo

ordained in London; studied in India. He has lived in Thailand 6 years. Author of Buddhism Explained, editor of The Wisdom Gone Beyond etc.

William Klausner

M.A., LL.B.; has worked in Thailand since 1955 as both a research scholar and as an official of the Asia Foundation. He has written for both Thai and English publications.

Prince Subhadradis Diskul

Studied at Vachiravudh College and Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok. He worked at the Damrong Library in the Fine Arts Department before going to study at the Ecole du Louvre in Paris and the Institute of Archaeology in London. On returning, he worked in the Division of Archaeology of the Fine Arts Department and for the last ten years has been Dean of the Faculty of Archaeology, Silapakorn University, Bangkok.

Patya Saihoo

Assumption College, Bangkok; Brasenose College, Oxford; Assistant Professor, Faculty of Political Science, Chulalongkorn University Bangkok.

Michael Smithies

M.A. Oxon, M.A. California, F.R.A.S. British Council 1960-67 (Education Officer, Thailand 1960-64: Regional Director, Cambodia 1964-55); since 1967 with the University of Pittsburgh English Language Project, Thailand, and currently English Language Adviser, Kasetsart University.

Thamsook Mumnonda

took her first degree at Chulalongkorn University, and subsequently studied at Hongkong, where she took an M.A., and at London (Ph. D. in History). She is currently a lecturer in History at the Faculty of Arts, Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok.

Aswin Kongsiri :

Charterhouse; St. Peter's College, Oxford; Ministry of Finance, Bangkok.