The Journal of Oriental Studies is published by the Hong Kong University Press on behalf of the Centre of Asian Studies of the University of Hong Kong. It was founded in 1954 and the 1978 issue is Volume 16.

Articles are mainly in English or in Chinese, but contributions in other languages are welcomed. The journal covers a wide area—China, Japan, Korea and Southeast Asia, and the contents include history, geography, fine arts, language, literature, philosophy, architecture, archaeology, economics, political science, sociology, and anthropology.

Some articles from recent issues are:

Richard John Lynn, ‘Tradition and the individual: Ming and Ch’ing views of Yuán poetry’
E.W. Edwards ‘British policy in China 1913-1914: rivalry with France in the Yangtze valley’
Won-yong Kim, ‘Some bronze objects from Korea and northern China’
Cornelius P. Chang, ‘Kuan-yin paintings from Tun-huang: Water-moon Kuan-yin’
C.T. Hsia, ‘Yen Fu and Liang Chi-ch’ao as advocates of new fiction’
Chuang Shen, ‘The five Kwangtung art collectors as reflected by the major schools of Chinese painting during the Ch’ing dynasty’ (in Chinese)
Chiang Tao-ching, ‘The significance of the salt industry in the Ch’ing period’ (in Chinese)

Amongst all the structures belonging to the past of Bangkok, none has been subjected to destruction or indiscriminate alterations as rapidly as its old bridges. This is due to the fact that the city's mode of communication and transportation has changed from the waterways system to the road system almost entirely. As a result, canals have been filled up and bridges flattened down to become mere parts of the roads. Most of the remaining bridges were so enlarged or so modified to match the enlarged roads that their original proportions and character have been lost. These “necessary changes”, combined with a lack of understanding and intention to conserve cultural heritage in general, have resulted in Bangkok losing some of her valuable treasures irredeemably.

This book is an attempt to record, by pictures and descriptions, the story of the old bridges of Bangkok. The author cannot claim this to be the complete book on the subject. He only hopes that it will stir up interest in this part of our artistic and historical heritage among the public and administrators alike, and will act as a catalyst for further studies and an effort to preserve whatever remains in a more appropriate way before it is too late.

OLD BRIDGES OF BANGKOK

THE SIAM SOCIETY
1977

“... bridges in old Thailand were not only used as traffic utilities, but also served a social function as meeting and resting places. A number of bridges of this type, with benches along the sides and tile roofs over them, still can be found in some wats in Dhonburi and some other provinces.”

The Siam Society was founded in 1904, under the patronage of His Majesty the King, as an organization for those interested in the artistic, scientific and other cultural affairs of Thailand and neighbouring countries. The Society maintains an excellent Library, which is at the disposal of Members and visitors. The Society publishes the semi-annual Journal of the Siam Society, in addition to occasional works of topical interest and scholarly merit. The Society sponsors a programme of lectures and artistic performances, and regularly conducts excursions to places of archeological and cultural interest in Thailand and abroad. The Kamthieng House on the grounds of the Society’s home provides an example of a traditional northern Thai house with artefacts of rural life, and superb collections of woven materials and wood carvings.

The Natural History Section of the Siam Society, which was organized in 1913, sponsors its own programme of lectures and excursions to places of natural interest, and concerns itself with the conservation of Thai wildlife and flora. The Natural History Section publishes the annual Natural History Bulletin of the Siam Society, as well as occasional works of scientific interest.

MEMBERSHIP: The Society welcomes new Members, resident in Thailand or abroad, on the following bases:

- LIFE MEMBER: 5,000 baht (US$ 250.-) annually, renewable annually
- REGULAR MEMBER: 500 baht (US$ 25.-), renewable annually
- ORDINARY MEMBER: 300 baht (US$ 15.-), renewable annually

Life Members and Regular Members receive a subscription to the Society’s Journal and (on request) the Natural History Bulletin, a 20% discount on all publications, excursions and performances, as well as the right to vote at the Society’s Annual General Meeting. Ordinary Members enjoy the same privileges, except they do not receive subscriptions to the Journal and Bulletin. In addition, all members resident in Thailand receive the Monthly Programme, and the Annual Report of the Siam Society which is issued in advance of the Annual General Meeting.

STUDENT MEMBERSHIP is a special category offered to local students only, and carries the same privileges as Ordinary Membership.

SUBSCRIPTIONS to the Journal of the Siam Society and the Natural History Bulletin of the Siam Society are available independently of membership at the following rates:

- JSS: 300 baht (US$ 15.-) annually (2 issues)
- Bulletin: 100 baht (US$ 5.-) annually (1 issue)

Applications for membership, subscriptions or further information on the Society are welcome. Please contact Mr. Euayporn Kerchhouay, the Administrative Secretary of the Society, at the address given above.
